

College of Agriculture and Life Sciences

June 1, 2004

Alexy Kudryavtsev
c/o Andrew Segars, Program Manager
American Councils for International Education
1776 Massachusetts Ave., NW, Suite 700
Washington, DC 20036

Dear Alexy:

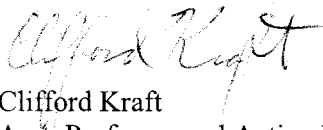

Congratulations! I am very pleased to offer you admission to the MS degree program in the field of Natural Resources at Cornell University beginning fall 2004.

Dr. Marianne Krasny will serve as your major advisor. I know from working with Dr. Krasny that she is an excellent advisor and will work closely with you to make your graduate program a success. Please contact her should you have any further questions related to your graduate program.

We encourage you to accept Cornell's offer of admission online at <http://www.applyweb.com/apply/cornell-bound-grad/>. This secure online form is convenient and easy to use. Also, your online response will be received immediately and at no cost to you. If you prefer to respond by mail, please complete the "Response to Offer of Admission" form included in the enclosed booklet and return it to the Graduate School as soon as possible. You will also find information on housing, Cornell, and the Ithaca community in this booklet.

I am genuinely pleased that you have chosen to apply to Cornell, and hope that you will choose Cornell for your graduate studies. If you have any questions, or if there is anything else that I can do to help you make your decision, please do not hesitate to contact me at (607) 255-2775 or cek7@cornell.edu. I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Sincerely,

Clifford Kraft
Asst. Professor and Acting Director of Graduate Studies
Natural Resources

Cc: Grad Admissions, M. Krasny